Arkansas in Trouble--Dispute for the Governorship--The Present Governor Ousted--The President Appealed to for Aid--Great Excitement.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 15.—Joseph Brooks, claiming to have been elected Governor in 1872, took the oath of office to-day before Chief Justice McClure, and then took forcible possession of the Governor's office, ejecting Governor Baxter and taking possession of the court house. Brooks bases his action on the decision of Judge Whitlock of the Circuit Court of the State made this morning overruling a demurrer filed by Gov. Baxter's counsel in a suit brought against him by Brooks for the Governor's office, and issuing judgment of ouster in Brooks' favor. This action of the court was taken in the absence of Baxter's counsel, who had no opportunity to answer or move an appeal. Baxter has established his headquarters at St. Johns College, and has telegraphed to President Grant the facts in the case, and asking him for the support of the General Government to regain possession of his office. The greatest excitement prevails.

Later from the Arkansas Muddle--Gov. Baxter Preparing to Retake the State House.

LITTLE ROCK, April 16.—There is little change in the Gubernatorial muddle. Brooks holds the State House, surrounded by about 100 men with two cannon. Baxter's headquarters is still at St. Johns college in the suburbs of the city. He is preparing to retake the State House.

The President Won't Interfere in the Arkansas Muddle.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Republican members of Congress from Arkansas called on the President and Attorney General this morning to confer regarding the Gubernatorial muddle in that State. Subsequently the Attorney General telegraphed to Gov. Brooks and Baxter that the President declines to interfere except to preserve peace.

Sinking of a Steamer.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The French steamer Amerique was sunk on the 14th inst. 100 miles from Brest. All saved but the second officer.

Dockery is sentenced to suffer death by the Cuban authorities.

Mrs. Sumner Petitions for Permission to Resume her Maiden Name.

BOSTON, April 16.—Alice Mason Sumner, wife of the late Senator, petitions the Probate Court for permission to resume her maiden name because she was divorced from her late husband. It should be stated that her appeal to the Legislature for permission to marry again was presented before the Senator's death, and that she preserves the respect of Mr. Sumner's best friends who know the cause of this step.

Woman Suffrage Defeated in the Ohio Constitutional Convention.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—The Constitutional Convention to-day took up the article providing for woman suffrage and defeated it. Yeas, 41; nays 41, less than a Constitutional majority.

The Senate Territorial Committee have decided to recommend the confirmation of Gen. McCook as Governor of Colorado in place of Elbert, to be removed.

The House Territorial Committee have agreed to report a bill for the admission of New Mexico into the Union.

Attempt to Reduce the President's Salary.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—In the House, Holman, of Indiana, moved to reduce the item of the President's salary from $50,000 to $25,000. He argued that the increase of salary last session was unconstitutional, and he also criticised items of the President's [illegible]. Hale, of Maine, opposed the [illegible], and stated that so much of the President's mansion was occupied for public purposes that the family was huddled in smaller apartments than were occupied by members of private families all over the country. He declared that none of the items for the Presidential household were personal perquisites.

General Crook.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Much surprise is expressed here at the apparent prevalence of an impression in California and Arizona that the Interior Department and Indian Bureau are hostile to Gen. Crook, and that they are collecting data relative to the conduct of affairs by his subordinate officers with the intention of making a fight on him. There is no truthful foundation whatever for such reports.

CANADA.

Proceedings of Parliament--Riel's Case.

OTTAWA, April 15.—In Parliament last night Cartwright delivered his budget speech. He estimates the deficiency for the fiscal year ending June 30th next at nearly $900,000, being the first deficiency since the confederation, an important element of this increase being the public works.

In Commons this afternoon Bodwell moved the expulsion of Riel. Holton moved a postponement until the report of the committee. Mousseau moved to present an address to the Queen for his pardon.

HAVANA, April 15.—The Judge Advocate of the court martial trying Dockery, ex-Collector of Customs at Jacksonville, Florida, demands sentence of death. Papers in the case have been submitted to Captain-General Concha. Strong efforts will be made to obtain commutation of the sentence to imprisonment.

Concha has suppressed the Paloma newspaper and banished the editor, Juan Ortega, to Spain.

Honors to Dr. Livingstone's Remains.

LONDON, April 15.—Fifty thousand persons were present at the landing of Livingstone's remains. The hearse was followed by a line of carriages, and the body was taken to the Geographical Society's Rooms to await the funeral, which occurs on Saturday. Sir William Ferguson, the Queen's Surgeon, has identified the remains.

A STRANGE STORY

A TRAGIC NARRATIVE OF FACTS

The heirs of two brothers, named Jacques and Francois Lefevre, have through their attorney presented a memorial to the Indiana Senate, which reads more like an epitome of a tragic romance than a narrative of actual facts. Jacques Lefevre came to this country about the year 1830, and settled in Lawrence county, Indiana, near St. Francisville, on the banks of the Wabash. For fifteen years he toiled industriously on his farm, chopping wood and selling it for fuel to passing steamboats. In 1845 he was murdered—shot while standing near his woodpile, waiting for an approaching steamer. An inquest was held, but the mystery of the assassination was not solved, and the incident gradually dropped out of the recollection of the people in the neighborhood. Eight years later Francois Lefevre came over from France to collect what might be due the estate of his brother, and to live on his farm, but a few months after his arrival he too was shot on precisely the same spot where his brother fell, and his murderer was never apprehended, nor any clew obtained concerning his identity. The Lefevre estate consisted of seventy-three acres, and since Jacques was shot, although the farm has produced nothing, the taxes have been regularly paid by the heirs. They have repeatedly endeavored to sell the land since the murder of Francois, but notwithstanding the fact it was offered as low as $2 50 an acre, nobody could be found willing to risk his life by taking up his abode on the ill-omened place. For this reason the heirs petition the Legislature to accept the Lefevre estate on behalf of the Commonwealth, to be devoted to any public use for the benefit of the county of Lawrence, on condition that the same shall be known as The Bloody Field, or any other appropriate denomination reminding the actual generation of the unpunished and somewhat inexplicable of a double murder under more inexplicable circumstances at eight years' interval. They also ask that the sum of the taxes paid on the estate from 1845 to the present time may be reimbursed to them, and a bill drawn in the interest of the petitioners is now before the Indiana Senate for its action thereon.

Here is a tale which may encourage those who are in search of lost or hidden treasure, and which may also have a reviving effect upon the American heirs of estates in England valued at from $75,000 to $1,000,000,000, be the same more or less. In the township of King, thirty miles north of Toronto, fourteen years ago an old lady died making unintelligible signs toward an immense chest. A few days ago her son sold out, and the buyer of that chest found therein $800 in notes and gold in old stockings. The son claimed the money and had his claim allowed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—R. S. Farrelly, Treasurer of Alameda county, settled with the State to-day, paying in $19,044. He received the semi annual apportionment for schools in Alameda county, $15,604.

Deputy Constable John Clark attempted to get on the front platform of a street car this afternoon, missed his hold and fell, his right leg falling under the car nearly lengthwise of the rail. Before the car could be stopped the hind wheel of the car passed over the leg, inflicting shocking wounds. The skin, flesh, veins and muscles were cut clean from the knee to the ankle joints and were bruised into a shapeless mass by the weight passing over them.

It is reported in town to-night that the Sheriff of Los Angeles with his posse had overtaken and captured Vasquez and his gang.

Vasquez Turns up Again.

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The Sheriff this morning received information that Vasquez with four of his men were at San Gabriel Mission. They took up an Italian by the name of Alexander Reparto and compelled him to sign a check on the bank here for $800 and sent his (Reparto's) son with the check to draw the money, threatening him with death if he divulged anything about it. The cashier mistrusted something wrong and the boy told the story. The Sheriff immediately left with a posse of fifteen men. He has just returned and reports that it is Vasquez. His men are after them and he is now getting ten additional men to assist. A man was tied up, but upon appearance of the Sheriff they untied him and fled. The Sheriff's party are about a mile behind them. Rodgers, one of the party, has just returned. He saw Reparto, who said they were all Mexicans. The boy drew $500 on the check, and the Sheriff sent him ahead with the money. It is not known yet if Vasquez got the money. They have gone toward San Fernando Pass. The Sheriff has gone again with reinforcements.

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Mr. John Osborne, expressman, and Charles Miles, Superintendent of the Water Co., and John Rhodes were returning from the lands of the Orange Grove Association about half past one P. M., they were met by Vasquez and his party (about 12) just from the city, at the head of the Aroyo Seco, and were stopped and made to deliver all they had. From Mr. Osborne they took a watch and chain, valued at about $75, and from Mr. Miles a watch valued at $250; from Rhodes what money he had. He then rode off, bid them good-bye, and told them he was Vasquez. The party in pursuit of him, headed by Sands and Harris, hove in sight, when Vasquez rode off, the pursuers about half a mile in the rear.

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—The Vasquez pursuit continues. At sundown four more mounted men started to join the pursuers. Sheriff Rowland's party are following closely in Soledad Canyon. Morse and eight men were at Elizabeth Lake last night coming south. There is no doubt as to the identity of Vasquez. The last robbery at the Arroyo Seco was committed within three miles of the city.

BAKERSFIELD, April 16.—News of Vasquez's recent exploits near Los Angeles and his subsequent escape into the mountain passes near Soledad render successful pursuit almost impossible. It is probable that he may encounter Sheriff Morse and party of Alameda Co., who are reported to have camped at the mouth of Tejon Canon last Sunday evening, fully prepared for the war path, and must by this time be somewhere in the neighborhood of Vasquez's old rendezvous at Little Rock Canyon or thereabouts, with Morse and party in front and Rowland and party in the rear of Vasquez. The prospect for some exciting news is good.

Lane County Temperance Convention.

EUGENE CITY, April 16.—The Lane County Temperance Convention met to-day and indorsed most of the Republican county ticket. The exceptions were G. W. Whitney in the place of John Kelly for Senator, Bob Veach instead of Wilkins for County Clerk, Allen Bond (Independent) in the place of Bonnet for Representative, I. P. Henderson for Treasurer, and Carlson for School Superintendent. After electing delegates to the State Convention the Convention adjourned.

TACOMA, April 16.—The excitement is considerably on the increase to-day and Tacoma property finds ready sale at prices ranging from $150 to $250 per lot. Since yesterday 120 lots have been sold for cash. A large number of people are arriving from all points.

The weather is very fine.

AIMEE DESCLEE.—A correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette writes of Mlle. Aimee Desclee, who lately died in Paris, utterly worn out, at the age of thirty seven years, as follows: Aimee Desclee was buried on Tuesday, and it is needless to say that most of the dramatic authors in Paris and the first actors and actresses followed her remains to the grave. Alexander Dumas pronounced a touching oration over her tomb, taking on himself much of the guilt of her death. He had persuaded Aimee Desclee to renounce the provinces and to come to Paris. She expressed the fear that she would be unable to stand acting the same piece night after night in the presence of a critical audience. In the country she never played the same piece more than four or five consecutive nights, and the people put up with her eccentricities. She yielded, however, came to Paris and played for a year; then she wrote to Alexander Dumas that she was worn out and that she would only return if he declared she was indispensable. She had just played Frou Frou for a hundred nights—that pretty little Parisian soul born in a peal of laughter evaporated in a tear. Alexander Dumas soon wrote to Aimee Desclee that she was indispensable, and she returned to the Gymnase and played in La Femme de Claude and La Princesse Georges. The first comedy was only one act, and yet she threw so much of her being into it that on leaving the stage she had invariably to throw herself on a sofa and remain there a half an hour, just as Rachel used to do after a tragedy.

"A bit of gossip at New York is of an American young woman about to marry an English lord, her father having signed an agreement to give his noble son-in-law $10,000 a year—the only condition on which the latter would consent to the marriage. The lord will certainly be cheated, for the father isn't worth $40,000 in all, and as for the bride, let us hope she resembles her father."

Lester Seymour, an adventurer who recently went to Pittsfield, Massachusetts, and engaged Mrs. Scott-Siddons to give a reading there, paid that lady with a worthless check for $250, pocketed the entire receipts (about $600) and fled, leaving other bills to the amount of several hundred dollars. Mrs. Siddons being under engagement to the Boston Lecture Bureau, the $250 loss falls on them.

Capt. Nicol, brother of Mr. Nicol, formerly manager of the Vancouver Coal Company at Nanaimo, and himself a resident of Nanaimo, was killed in an attack on the village of Adansee, Africa, on the 3rd of January.

On Friday of last week Coroner Trew held an inquest on the body of a man found in the river at Canoe Pass. From the evidence it would appear to be the body of J. Powers, who had been working at Burrard Inlet and New Westminster.

An Ottawa journal says: The act of the British Columbia Legislature to authorize one justice of the peace to do any act, matter or thing heretofore to be done by two justices of the peace, and to give an appeal to courts of general and of quarter sessions, has been disallowed by His Excellency the Governor General.

Black Diamond Lodge, I. O. O. F., was organized at New Westminster on the 5th inst. D. D. G. M. Harris instituted the Lodge, and the following officers were installed by Coun. Drummond: S. D. The Victoria Colonist of the 8th has this: "It was ascertained yesterday that the dead body found in a trunk was that of a squaw who died of smallpox in 1862, and was thus disposed of by her friends. The trunk and contents were buried yesterday. Query—Need there be any fear of a renewal of the pestilence in consequence of the handling of these remains?"

The Mainland Guardian says: The Omineca returns are in, only one vote cast—that was for Thompson. Billy for the one voter cost the Government $415 to record his vote, leaving out the question of ballot-boxes, tickets, clerks, pencils, screens, sealing wax, and all the rest of the paraphernalia that the progressive spirit of the age has brought into operation to make our honest man a hypocrite.

There was a great meeting of Indians at St. Mary's (R. C.) Mission, New Westminster, to perform the Easter solemnity. A retreat has been preached to them which resulted in a great many of them approaching the sacraments and a large number being baptized. His Lordship the Right Rev. Bishop D'Herbomez officiated Pontifically during the retreat on two occasions. The estimated number present was about 3,000 Indians, and if it had not been for the great depth of snow up-country, which deterred the Indians from coming down, there would have been at least 4,000 present.

Mr. Johnston, the expressman who brought down the election returns from Kootenay, says that miners have struck diggings on Wesley Bar that pay $10 to $20 for the day's work of three or four hours to the hand. The contentment is general and no one talks of going to Cassiar. Beef 6 cents, vegetables 5 cents per pound. Price's claims had been sold out for $2,000 per share. Cattle had wintered well at Kootenay. At Similkameen, Rock Creek and Colville many head have died. The snow is still very deep. The spring is backward, and Mr. Johnston had to use snowshoes to within one mile of Hope. Wardle, the mail carrier, has gone into the diggings.

OREGON

Mr. McDougall has been lecturing at Forest Grove and at Hillsboro in the interest of the Independent Champions of the Red Cross. He was unable to organize a lodge at the Grove.

The executors of the last will and testament of Hon. Cyrus Olney, having about concluded settlement of the estate, will soon turn over to the city of Astoria the remaining property, agreeable to the wish of the testator.

Jerome Porter, of Forest Grove, now gone to Stickeen, writes to his family stating that he had arrived at the mines and had taken a claim. The snow was five feet deep on the ground. He says that two of his party were frozen to death on the way to the mines.

The Directors of the Forest Grove district school have hired H. L. Leiser and Miss Brown to teach for the ensuing term. Mr. Leiser is well known here, having been a student at the College for a number of years past, and has had considerable experience in teaching. Miss Brown was an assistant in the Hillsboro school three years ago.

The Independent represents Prof. Condon as saying in his lecture at Forest Grove: "There is at present a horse in Oregon having three tolerably developed hoofs which are governed by separate sets of muscles and which sustain weight when the animal passes over the occasional muddy roads in Oregon. We have seen several that had four tolerably well developed hoofs."

The Advocate says: Bro. F. N. D. writes from Gervais, April 8, 1874, as follows: To the praise of God we would record a precious work of grace at [illegible] Rock creek charge. There were ten united with the Church and probably an equal number of conversions. The meeting at Thomas' school house near there, conducted by Bros. Flinn and Osburn, resulted in some 37 accessions, while other meetings have been successful. God has given us on this charge about 80 souls this winter.

THE TERRITORIES

An anti-tobacco literary benevolent secret society has been started at Olympia.

The Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad Co., in a meeting on the 14th, authorized advertisement for bids to build the first section of said railroad in view of commencing work.

On the 1st of January, 1873, Mrs. Judson, of Thurston county, W. T., tried the experiment of making sugar from Linden maple, and met with such flattering success that she sent a specimen cake to Jay Cooke & Co., financial agents of the N. P. R. R. Co., at New York city, which was duly acknowledged by them in a letter highly complimenting its excellence.

On last Monday, at Puyallup Valley, W. T., Mr. J. H. Munson completed the organization of an Encampment at [illegible], with twelve charter members. The following officers were elected and installed: J. C. Carey, [illegible]; [illegible] McMillan, [illegible]; J. W. The Indianapolis firemen are a modest and unassuming set. They were out trying an engine's power to force water to a certain height, and while they were thus engaged a snow storm set in. They subsequently insisted that it was their snow, and that they originated the storm.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE GRANT COUNTY INDEPENDENT CONVENTION

The Independent tax payers of Grant county, Oregon, in their convention unanimously adopted the following platform:

WHEREAS, Organizations of citizens concurring in the same political belief form political parties. They exist by reason of common assent, make history, create friends and enemies, and live or die by their own record. Strong ties and obligations bind them together, and they should not be forsaken without a just cause; but when parties long established have outlived their usefulness and have failed, after repeated trials, to carry into effect the will of the people, it is the duty of the people as freemen to form new alliances or organizations, that the objects of all just governments may be attained; therefore be it

Resolved, That we believe and affirm that the Democratic and Republican parties have outlived their usefulness and have no other reason for longer existence but to elect designing men and party demagogues who have not the promotion of the public welfare at heart, but are to a great and alarming extent controlled by a party interest and selfish motives.

2. That we have the moral courage to cut ourselves loose from those parties, and do denounce all corruption in office and all extravagance in the expenditure of the public money.

3. That we favor rigid economy in all departments of government, county, State and nation.

4. That we favor the reduction of the fees and salaries of the officers of Grant county to a reasonable compensation.

5. That we oppose the purchase of the locks and canal at Oregon City unless they can be purchased so as to be a profitable investment to the State.

6. That we endorse the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th and 17th resolutions adopted by the Polk County People's Convention.

7. That we desire the repeal of the law allowing 50 per cent additional fees to the officers of Grant county, and that we pledge our Representatives to use all honorable means for the repeal of said act.

8. That we believe the [illegible] Printing Act to be unjust, and we desire our Representatives to use their influence for the repeal of the same.

9. That the fees of the County Clerk shall not exceed the sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars per year for services rendered the county, and our nominee is hereby pledged to return to the County Treasury at least once a year all over that sum that comes into his hands for county business.

10. That the County Judge is hereby pledged to perform the duties of said office for the sum of six hundred dollars per annum, and to return to the County Treasury at least once a year the two hundred dollars excess of the said six hundred dollars, which is now allowed by law.

11. That the nominee for County Treasurer is hereby pledged to perform the duties of his office for the sum of four hundred dollars, and to return to the County Treasury at least once a year the excess of that amount that may come into his hands by virtue of said office.

12. That we are opposed to all extra compensations for services rendered to the county.

13. That we favor any judicious movement on the part of the State or General Government to improve our educational resources and to disseminate knowledge on all subjects that are calculated to unfold the intellectual and elevate the moral condition of our people.

14. That we are in favor of rotation in office, and an equal representation of all parts of the county in county offices.

THE LA GRANDE FIRE

From the Sentinel we glean the following relative to the fire which occurred at that place on the morning of the 9th:

At 12:30 A. M. the alarm was sounded, and it was soon discovered that the brewery owned by Henry Stricker was a mass of living flames. But a moment lapsed ere the mercantile house of Bloch & Sommer, separated from the brewery by an alley, caught the element. But few goods were saved from the store, but the fire proof cellar stood the heated test and the contents were uninjured. To the west the bakery owned by Stricker, but unoccupied, was soon destroyed. Next came Thompson's carpenter shop. Next Dickey's wagon shop soon conceded the power of the fiery element and succumbed. To the west of this building stands the old packers' market, the only monument left of former times on the face of the entire two blocks, the half of which blocks were destroyed. To return to Bloch & Sommer's store—adjoining which on the east was A. Dray's merchant tailoring establishment, and next was Mrs. Chenoweth's millinery establishment, then Harry Glover's harness shop, then the barber shop, then O'Brien's saloon and hotel, then Mose Ehrenreich's Headquarters store, unoccupied, then the postoffice and stock of notions of Mr. Patterson, then McComas' corner, containing the State Land Office and the remains of a stock of goods. All these buildings and a goodly portion of the contents were destroyed. Fortunately there was but little wind, or else the loss would have been four or ten fold. Men faced the flames until water had to be dashed upon them to enable them still longer to combat the flames. At one time the Sentinel was endangered. The following comprise the estimated losses: J. W. Dickey, $700; J. B. Thompson, $1,200; J. L. Curtis, $500; H. Stricker, $5,000; Sommer & Baer, $4,500; Bloch & Sommer, $800; A. Dray, $1,000; R. Chenoweth, $700; H. B. Grover, $1,000; Thomas O'Brien, $6,000; B. P. Patterson, $1,500; M. Ehrenreich, $1,000; J. S. & J. J. McComas, $3,000; J. P. Stevens (from moving), $250; J. A. Boskowitz (from moving), $500; J. J. Crowder (from moving), $250; other persons (estimated), $1,100. Total loss, $25,500.

Insurance, $4,000 on Thomas O'Brien's furniture. There were twenty one buildings destroyed—seventeen of that number being business houses; of the latter number four were unoccupied.

The fire is supposed to have caught from a defective flue in the brewery.

During the fire Henry Stricker, who is a provident, saving man, saved about $5,000 in coin which he had banked under the sidewalk in front of his brewery.

SUMNER'S EULOGY ON LINCOLN.—The Boston Globe says that the original manuscript of Mr. Sumner's eulogy on Abraham Lincoln, delivered before the municipal authorities of Boston on the first of June, 1865, is in the possession of ex-Alderman Gaffield. Its many changes and interlineations made during its preparation for publication testify to the care which Mr. Sumner gave to everything that he did. The following passage in the original draft of this address may be recalled now as applying with equal appropriateness to the death of the great statesman himself:

"In the universe of God there are no accidents. From the fall of a sparrow to the fall of an empire or the sweep of a planet, all is according to Divine Providence, whose laws are everlasting. It was no accident which gave to his country the patriot whom we now mourn. It was no accident which snatched this patriot so suddenly from his sublime duties. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord."

The Bank of England was incorporated in 1694. It covers five acres of ground and employs 900 clerks. There are now no windows on the street; light is admitted through open courts; no mob could take the bank therefore without cannon to batter the immense walls. The clock in the center of the bank has fifty dials attached to it. Large cisterns are sunk in the court, and engines in perfect order are always in readiness in case of fire.

Olive Logan is disappointed in the almehs, or Nile dancing girls, whom Howadji Curtis so poetically described. Four of them are dancing at the Folies Bergeres in Paris, and Olive says they are hideous negresses seesawing their bodies to the vilest instrumental caterwauling, and that the almeh is one of her bitter disillusions.

OUR VESUVIUS

A HERALD REPORTER ASCENDS BALD MOUNTAIN

Correspondence N. Y. Herald.

THE VOLCANIC REGION, March 21.

After a hard night's ride from near Chimney Rock your correspondent reached here this morning, having ridden nearly 150 miles in five days through what seemed to be an interminable rain storm and over the roughest and muddiest roads it had ever been his bad fortune to encounter. These wild though beautiful regions, but so little known to the outside world, have afforded much excitement and painful anxiety within the past few weeks. And well may such be the case, inasmuch as Mother Earth has seemed in such a state of convulsion that Vesuvius has been threatened with an American rival. On the 15th inst., finding it impossible to obtain horses at Old Fort, the Herald's correspondent started from this point toward Bald Mountain, understanding that it was some twenty eight miles distant. But he had traveled nearly twelve ere nightfall when he learned that the mountain was still thirty one miles away. This did not look much like progress, but we pushed forward until we reached a farm house, the occupants of which informed him that they had experienced shocks from the mountain. During this night the Herald man experienced the first of the shocks of which he had already heard so much. They commenced with a noise like that of a smothered blast, and were followed by a low rumbling sound, which continued for some twenty five or thirty seconds.

AN ATTEMPT TO ASCEND.

The next morning, after various endeavors to get a guide, and finding such a thing impossible, your correspondent started up the mountain alone. The scenery was perfectly grand, but soon became obscured by a thick fog and a blinding rain, which forced him to return to the good old farmer's house where he had stayed the night before, and here an interesting interval was employed in hearing the stories of the people. It seemed as though there were a telegraphic agency at work in the country, for many people gathered at the house at which the writer stopped, saying that they had heard that there were strangers in their midst, making inquiries as to the shaking. One of them said he owed about $50, and he had two cows and a horse which he would sell for that money, because he did not want to go out of the world owing a cent to any man. The facts concerning the beginning of the disturbance have already been forwarded by telegram to the Herald; the reports about the conversion of over fifty terror stricken white people by Geo. Logan, a colored preacher, are now confirmed. The prayer meetings held at Elliott's house, at the base of Stone Mountain, were of the most enthusiastic nature. The house was crowded almost to suffocation, many seekers after religion being perched upon the joists of the house. During the continuance of the prayer meeting, on the fifth day, a perfect Rip Van Winkle appeared in the person of old Major Bender, an illicit distiller, who carried on his sinful traffic in the very bowels of the mountain, and who had been rarely seen by humans save those who paid him surreptitious visits for the purpose of obtaining a measure of his illicitly concocted, but soothing corn-juice. His gray locks hung wildly over his bent shoulders, his beard was long and covered his breast, and his face was as pale as that of a ghost. Shaking his head, he said: "Hit's a comin', and thar ain't no use a talkin'. Ef you uns had a bin as bad as I have you wouldn't be a wantin' nuthin' but religion." The old man then told how he had heard the rumbling noises and thought at first that it was thunder, and then, when he experienced the shaking, he got uneasy, and, for the first time since the war, determined to go down the mountain. He thought the world was coming to an end, and that the best thing he could do would be to mend his ways and quit distilling. He broke up all his still tubs, poured his malt down the mountain sides, and was now in search of a revenue officer to whom he could confess his transgressions against the Government. When he came to inquire he found that the revenue officers had fled the night before. They had appeared at Mr. Elliott's and attended a prayer meeting, during which two severe shocks occurred, which so frightened them that they ordered their horses and put off in a hurry. The narration of these facts so increased Major Bender's uneasiness that he got upon his knees and begged to be baptized at once.

WILLIAM LOGAN, THE WHITE PREACHER,

Now appeared upon the scene and relieved his colored brother from much of his labor. He is as perfect a specimen of a mountain hero as ever I saw. He has a splendid physique, a really handsome face, and though without much education has great natural intelligence. While he counseled his people to keep cool and fear nothing, he impressed upon them the importance of becoming converted and change the tenor of their ways in the past. He preached especially as to God's great power, exemplified in the movements now going on in the mountain, and in my view were the conversions consequent upon his orations. The people crowded around him and listened to his words as a child would to a mother's lullaby.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

On Friday afternoon I resumed my line of march, and by night had reached the neighborhood of the Widow Nan's, who resides near the base of the cone of Stone Mountain, where the greatest disturbance had been heard. My host for the night was very close in his questions as to my observations, and gave me very plainly to understand that unless I imparted to him the fullest information in my possession I could not count him as a friend. Said he, "Stranger, I am glad to see ye. I would be glad to see a hundred of ye. I'm all alone here with my family, and I'm so afraid of this mountain and its noises that I'm nigh gone crazy." I comforted the old man as best I could, and retired at an early hour. At about 11 o'clock I was awakened by a very sensible shaking and rumbling. Shock after shock succeeded each other, the noise resembling very much that of the unloading of very heavy timber, and at times so sudden and sharp that it seemed impossible to sleep. At 12 o'clock a thunder storm accompanied the noises, and so great was the combined effect that my host called the family together and invited us to join in prayer. This invitation, while thoroughly appreciated, was respectfully declined, inasmuch as it was not possible to pray with sincerity and sleep at the same time. The old man was much shocked at the declination and prayed for my spiritual safety. The family did not sleep at all during the night, but kept up singing and praying until daylight.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT AN ASCENT.

On Friday morning at about 6 o'clock I started up the mountain again by myself, and took the chances of finding the way. The road, or rather bridle path, led up a steep ascent, which somewhat resembled a camel's back, and ere I had gotten to its top the rumbling noise commenced. On either side of me were precipices hundreds of feet in height, and my path was not more than ten feet in width. On my left was a waterfall descending from the top of the mountain for some 2,000 feet. At one point this stream broke forth to the size of a man's leg, and falling over 200 feet was caught by a projecting ledge, where the stream was spread into the shape of an aqueous arbor. To describe the beauty and grandeur of the scene would be simply impossible. At about 7 o'clock I heard a low rumbling and

MY HORSE BEGAN TO TREMBLE.

The rumbling was succeeded by sharp reports like that of heavy artillery, which so frightened the animal that he wheeled around suddenly, and by a motion of the head broke the right bridle rein, and thus left him beyond my control. Seeing a large oak tree in front of me, I skirmished for the most obtainable bough, and was enabled to save myself from the offices of an undertaker, although smartly bruised and forced to bid my faithful steed a temporary farewell. I returned to the house of the praying farmer with whom I had got myself into such bad repute.

I subsequently succeeded in securing a guide to ascend the mountain with me, and I can simply repeat that the rumbling sounds were continuous and terrifying. Professor Dupre, whose arrival I duly announced to you, says briefly and tersely:

"I am not satisfied as to the nature of these movements, but I think they are sufficient to attract the attention and inquiry of the scientific world."

BAKER COUNTY ITEMS

Our Baker City correspondent, under date of April 11th inst., sends us the following:

A case of croup occurred last week down the valley.

Capt. Joseph Myrick is about starting up the Gem Quartz Mill on rock from the "Gem Lode."

The Canal Company at Sparta have reduced their water rate to 15 cents per inch first head. No water in their ditches as yet.

The miners in the various camps are cleaning out ditches and setting their sluices, etc., preparatory to catch the first water that runs, but the free water will last but a short time.

The snow is nearly gone from our valley, and farmers have commenced plowing. The soil dried up very rapidly after the disappearance of the snow, and the roads are fine. Unless we should be blessed with heavy spring rains water will be short in the mining camps.

Trade is looking up a little in our town, and our citizens are particularly interested in making garden and talking politics. Money is out of the question here, and we do not expect to see any until after the mining season has fairly set in. Our ladies are all too busy attending to their domestic affairs to interfere with saloons, and the gentlemen and others partake of the "American wine" peacefully and without fear.

Packwood & Stewart's mill at Hog'em is now running on quartz from the "Summit" mine. The "Virtue" is idle, but will soon start up. The James Gordon Company are running a 100 foot level on their mine. This mine is rich. A new discovery is reported this morning of a fine lode of white quartz carrying free gold. The ledge is located about one mile northwest from the Virtue mine, and is 10 inches wide on top. Mr. Isaac Gardner found it. There is no water in the Auburn ditch as yet. The Baily boys are running their arastra at Pocahontas on good rock from their mine, the "Golden Gate."

THE CHAMPOEG MURDERER

APPREHENSION OF TOM GERRAH BY TWO WOOD CHOPPERS

CHAMPOEG, April 15, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Tom Gerrah, the half breed who shot Mr. Hubbard last Sunday, was apprehended to-day by some wood-choppers, just across the river from Champoeg. Tom went down to the river, and halloed to get across. One of the wood choppers came over in a skiff, took him to the opposite shore, and into his cabin, where Tom surrendered without any show of resistance.

When the prisoner was brought into town the excitement ran high. A great many silly things were said, and some demonstrations were made that pointed to an oak limb. Better judgment prevailed, however. The miserable youth plead "guilty" to a complaint of "assault with intent to kill," and at this writing he is on his way to the county jail, tied and closely guarded.

Mr. Hubbard's symptoms are more favorable to-day, and friends entertain high hopes of his recovery.

THE INDEPENDENT TICKET

We present this morning, the ticket nominated by the Independent State Convention at Salem yesterday It is submitted to the candid consideration of all good citizens who favor honesty and ability in our public service economy in the administration of the government and a general reform in the methods of political action

Timothy W Davenport, of Marion county, the nominee for Representative in Congress, is a farmer of broad culture and liberal political views He is very generally known in the Willamette valley as one of the readiest and most popular debaters in Oregon To a keen analytic mind he adds strong common sense and an accurate judgment His reputation for integrity is unsullied by any taint of suspicion He is a man who thinks on his feet, and he will make the coming canvass particularly tropical for Richard Williams Mr Davenport has hitherto acted with the Republican party

Thomas F Campbell, of Polk county, is a gentleman of superior ability and will make an excellent Governor In his native State, Virginia, he held various offices of honor and trust in the pursuit of his former profession—the law Mr Campbell is most widely known as an educator For several years he has occupied a chair, as President, in Monmouth College, one of the leading educational institutions of our State Mr Campbell has achieved an enviable reputation as an able debater We hope the moribund Democracy will survive just long enough to accord to Gov Grover a funeral befitting his present exalted station.

Hon J H Douthitt, of Wasco county, nominated for Secretary of State, is too well and favorably known in Oregon to require extended notice in these columns He is a pioneer, and although venerable with age, his well balanced mind retains all the vigor of earlier days He was formerly a resident of Linn county, where he is still universally loved and respected His very name is a tower of strength to the Independent cause On the first day of June it will be found that "Uncle Jimmy" has far outrun his younger competitors. He is an earnest, straightforward speaker, a man of incorruptible integrity and ample qualifications.

Demas Beach, of Linn county, nominee for State Treasurer, is one of the most substantial and enterprising citizens of that county. He is known as a safe business man, a sound financier and a gentleman of most excellent qualities of head and heart The keys of the Treasury could be placed in no more worthy hands

William M Hand, of Wasco county, is called to be State Printer under Governor Campbell's administration Everybody knows Hand He is a genial gentleman—like all members of the craft—and will faithfully perform the duties of his office Hand won't have as "fat" a job as his predecessors have reveled in, but, then he can afford to lose a little

M. M Oglesby, of Douglas county, nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction, is a young gentleman of excellent parts He is a practical teacher, and his experience under our system of schools will aid him greatly in the discharge of his duties as Superintendent For several years Mr Oglesby was Principal of La Creole Academy, in Polk county, and he has since occupied the position of Principal of the Roseburg Academy As a representative of the educated youth of Oregon, he deserves promotion to the office for which he is named

The Independent State Convention did its work well and harmoniously While it did not make obscurity a test of fitness—as did, in several instances, the party conventions which preceded it—it sought to secure, first of all, men of untarnished reputation and capable In doing this a most happy distribution of the various offices was accomplished Every section of the State was satisfied, and thus the Independent Convention was enabled to nominate, by acclamation, a ticket which has never been surpassed in our history as a State And the same spirit of harmony which prevailed in all the deliberations of this, the first People's Convention ever held in Oregon, is manifest among the people themselves On every hand the nominees will be received with enthusiasm. And as they go through the State on their noble mission they will be sustained by a strong moral support that will not falter until the work of political regeneration is complete

AN ERROR CORRECTED

By an error which we regretted exceedingly, our report of the delegates to the Independent State Convention, published in yesterday's OREGONIAN was so incomplete that only eight counties of Oregon were represented in the Convention whereas thirteen counties representing nineteen twentieths of the population and ninety nine one-hundredths of the wealth of the State sent delegates who were present in person, in nearly every instance Of course, it was an error of omission wholly, on the part of our reporter, but it nevertheless conveyed an erroneous and an unfortunate impression We append a corrected list of the delegations as reported by the Committee on Credentials

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION

SALEM April 16 1874

The Convention was called to order at 9 o'clock W R Dunbar in the chair

The Committee on

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Submitted the following report which was adopted First report of Committee on Resolutions second nomination for Congress third nomination for Governor fourth nomination for Secretary fifth nomination for State Treasurer sixth nomination for State Printer seventh nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction, eighth nomination for District officers ninth nomination for State Central Committee

The Committee on Resolutions submitted the following

Platform Adopted by the Independent State Convention.

Resolved 1 That extravagance and corruption have become so prevalent in the administration of the affairs of this State and nation as to burden the people with taxes that are not necessary to good government make politics a trade and debauch the morals of society; that there is no ground to hope for a remedy for these evils through the agency of the two political parties that have heretofore ruled the country and that the welfare of the people demand that every citizen laying aside all party prejudices and differences of opinion upon immaterial points unite in selecting for the public service men who will exert themselves to secure public economy retrenchment and reduction of taxation in every practicable way

2 That we view with alarm the reckless course of the State and National Governments in the multiplication of officers beyond the requirements of the public service, many of whom while receiving salaries from the public treasury, are devoting themselves to their private pursuits And we demand that officers paid do give their time exclusively to the service for which they are appointed

3 That we favor the adoption by the National and State Government of all reasonable measures of securing cheap transportation and to this end we favor liberal aid from the General Government for the opening and improvement of our harbors and rivers for the construction of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad the completion of the Oregon and California Railway to the southern line of the State, and the extension of the the Oregon Central Railway to Junction City That the interests of the State demand the completion of the Oregon Central Railway to Astoria that we favor such aid as may be consistent with prudence and public economy for the construction of roads across our mountain chains, And we favor the immediate construction of a wagon road along the south bank of the Columbia river from the mouth of Sandy to The Dalles

4 That all property rights individual and corporate should be subject to law that we would give all proper aid encouragement and protection to corporations, companies or persons engaged in transportation commerce or any other legitimate pursuit but we would hold all subject to law and we demand that the rates of freight and fare on railways within the State be fixed by the Legislature of the State and on inter State railways by Congress.

5 That we demand a return to the salaries fixed by the Constitution for State officers and we condemn all the schemes that have been devised to increase such salaries by indirection That the compensation of all officers should be only such as would pay them fairly for the services they perform that County Clerks and Sheriffs should have salaries fixed by law according to their services; that the law increasing their fees should be repealed and a law enacted providing reasonable fees to be charged by them in cases where private parties alone are concerned, such fees to be paid by others into the County Treasury That we demand the passage of a law to protect the public against unreasonable charges for the State printing.

6 That we favor a liberal system of public schools, but we condemn the act creating a monopoly in the sale of school books and demand its repeal

7 That we demand the repeal of the Litigant printing law

8 That we demand equal rights for all citizens and accord special privileges to none

9 That the interests of the people demand competition in the transportation of freights to and from our seaboard, that we are opposed to the purchase or leasing by the State of the Canals and Locks at the falls of the Willamette but would hold both the State and the Lock Company to a strict compliance with their existing contract.

10 That we especially condemn those acts of the Legislature that have enabled speculators to obtain [illegible] lands of the State in large tracts to the exclusion of poor men and men of moderate means who would take them for homes

11 That the removal of a faithful and competent officer merely because of his political opinions is a gross abuse of power That the use of the appointing power to reward politicians for services in conventions and elections is no less corrupt than any other species of bribery That the removal of faithful public officers for the conscientious performance of their duties is an outrage upon good government

12 That personal character is the proper criterion by which to judge of the fitness of men for public position, and it is dangerous business to men of disreputable private character

13 That the General Government should pay all the expenses losses and damages necessarily arising from its course of dealing with the Indians and we demand that our fellow citizens in Eastern and Southern Oregon be indemnified by the Government for their losses and damages in the Modoc war

14 That we are in favor of such legislation on the subject of the liquor traffic as will allow each precinct to decide by a vote of the citizens thereof whether liquor shall be sold in that precinct or not and which shall make the venders of intoxicating drink responsible for damages which may be done by the abuse of that privilege where sale is permitted

15 That the uprising of the agricultural classes and their organization into a compact society for mutual protection against the extortions of oppressive monopolies commends itself to the favor of every just mind and cannot but result in ultimate good to the whole people

HOW THE SHERIFF'S FEE BILL WAS DOCTORED

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

My attention has been drawn to a communication in your issue of last Saturday signed "A Republican Tax payer" which propound several important queries to Sheriff Caywood in regard to his stewardship In 1872 at the time he was working up an increased fee bill through the Legislature of that year I was cognizant of his persistent activity at Salem but I had no idea of the unblushing extent to which he and his co-officials piled on the agony till your Saturday's correspondent drew my attention to the matter again

By referring to the laws of 1870 (pp 72 77) and the same of 1872 (pp 74–80) the following parallel extracts are specimens of how the office of Sheriff has become so extremely lucrative in Multnomah county under the doctored fee bill of 1872

FEE BILL OF 1870	FEE BILL OF 1872
The fees of the Sheriff shall be as follows	The fees of the Sheriff shall be as follows
SEC 3 For serving any writ for the enforcement of a decree fifty cents	SEC 4 For serving any writ for the enforcement of a judgment or decree one dollar
For the service of any summons subpœna notice or order on each person served twenty five cents	For serving any summons subpœna, notice or order on each person served fifty cents
For executing any provisional remedy fifty cents	For executing any provisional remedy, one dollar
* * * * * * * *	* * * * * * * *
For all money actually made on any process and returned to the Clerk under one thousand dollars two per centum on all sums of money over one thousand dollars one per centum etc	For all money actually made on any process and returned to the Clerk under one thousand dollars three per centum on all sums over one thousand dollars three per centum etc.

Is it any wonder that the office nets $20 000 per annum or that Mr Caywood should judiciously invest his avails beyond this jurisdiction in a quarter where such fee bills may not encumber his savings with Webfoot taxes?

Donald McKay with his Indian braves will arrive from the Dalles this evening He will give our citizens several entertainments during the coming week

The entertainment given at Oro Fino Theater last evening—the third rendition of the "Lady of the Lake" the "Musical Olio" and "Poppleton's Predicament"—drew out a crowded house The play was rendered in its usual good style and the frequent and hearty applause given was sufficient evidence of the general satisfaction In the olio Miss Show[illegible] who was advertised to appear did not do so, in consequence of indisposition Miss Mills appeared in her stead As usual "Poppleton's Predicament" was capitally rendered and brought down the house many times

This evening the Catholic Social Union will devote the proceeds of the treasury to stage manager Mr R C White who has given his time to assist in making the entertainments offered by the Union a success An excellent programme is offered Mr Chas M Brown John Kearney and others will appear in the Olio and in addition to this The Lady of the Lake and Poppleton's Predicaments will be placed upon the stage with better effect those taking part being [illegible] in their respective roles The beneficiary is entitled to a crowded house and if the attractions do not draw the people then we do not know what amusement-seekers desire to please them Give [illegible] a bumper

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 17 1874

CITY.

FROM TILLAMOOK.—A gentleman arrived in this city yesterday from Tillamook who informs us that the snow is still very deep on the Coast range of mountains. Our informant was compelled to travel part of the way on snow shoes, and reached Portland in a very much fatigued condition. He came, as we learn, to procure the shipment of certain articles of provisions to that place, of which there is at present a great scarcity. When our informant left there were not more than three barrels of flour in the settlements on Tillamook Bay, and none on the way there. Such food as that section produces is plenty, but such as are shipped thither are very scarce.

AMUSEMENTS.

Donald McKay, with his Indian braves, will arrive in the Dalles this evening. He will give our citizens several entertainments during the coming week.

The entertainment given at Oro Fino Theater last evening—the third rendition of the "Lady of the Lake," "the Musical Olio," and "Poppleton's Predicament"—drew out a crowded house. The play was rendered in its usual good style, and the frequent and hearty applause given, was sufficient evidence of the general satisfaction. In the olio, Miss Showers, who was advertised to appear, did not do so, in consequence of indisposition. Miss Mills appeared in her stead. As usual, "Poppleton's Predicament" was capitally rendered, and brought down the house many times.

This evening the Catholic Social Union will devote the proceeds of the treasury to stage manager Mr R C White, who has given his time to assist in making the entertainments given by the Union a success. An excellent programme is offered. Mr Chas M Brown, ... Kearney and others will appear in the ... In addition to this "The Lady of the Lake" and Poppleton's Predicaments" will be placed upon the stage with better effect, those taking part being "up" in their respective parts. The beneficiary is entitled to a crowded house, and if the attractions don t draw the people, then we do not know what amusement-seekers desire to please them ... a bumper.

THE WAR ON WHISKY.

A DELEGATION OF CRUSADERS DESCEND ON MOFFETT'S SALOON YESTERDAY—THEY BESIEGE THE PLACE FOR NEARLY FOUR HOURS—DISGRACEFUL PROCEEDINGS—THE MATTER CULMINATES IN A GENERAL ROW—MEN KNOCKED DOWN—KNIVES AND PISTOLS DRAWN—GREAT PANIC AND EXCITEMENT

Yesterday was the twentieth day the crusaders were out among the saloons. It was by far the most noisy and turbulent day since the inauguration of the present movement. Since the last disgraceful scene which was enacted at the saloon of Walter Moffett the ladies desisted from visiting his place until yesterday. About two o clock a delegation consisting of nearly 15 ladies appeared in front of his saloon and began to sing. Moffett was prepared to give them a warm reception. This time he was armed with two Chinese gongs and an old wheezy hand organ. Scarcely had the delegation halted and commenced to sing ere the noisy battery was opened on them. A most hideous and distracting din was at once created by the pounding on the gongs mingled with the discordant notes of the organ. Moffett himself appeared in the midst of the tumult and added to the general confusion by whistling for the policemen. Two small boys were employed to beat the gongs and a half witted German called Tripe Fritz was hired to turn the crank of the organ. Thus the war—offensive and defensive—was inaugurated. Crowds of course began to collect from every direction and soon the sidewalks and street was a mass of surging humanity. Half an hour passed away and still the ladies stood their ground valiantly praying and singing amidst the Babel tranquilly as if everything was serene. Still the gongs were pounded with a remorseless hand, the organ doled out its asthmatic tones, and at intervals the shrill sound of the whistle was distinctly heard above the tumultuous din. But the ladies did not flinch nor waver in their purpose. At length the boys who were pounding the gongs began to evince strong symptoms of weariness. Slowly the perspiration began to trickle down their cheeks. Ever and anon when the little fellows commenced to flag Moffett would tell them to beat with renewed energy. Discovering that no amount of noise could frighten the women away the proprietor had recourse to another expedient. Near the corner of the saloon stands a large hydrant where those who have the contract for sprinkling the streets replenish their wagons. Attached to the hydrant is a large hose. One of Moffett's bar keepers—a young man named J J Good—turned on the water and deluged the sidewalk. The water ran down among the crowd and caused many to change positions. Although the water stood on the sidewalk to the depth of several inches yet the ladies did not stir an inch but prayed and sang on wholly unconcerned. Next the stream of water was turned up on the building so that it ran down the plank awning and dripped among the ladies. Yet courageously they stood while the water soaked through their clothing and thin shoes and wet them in some instances to the skin.

From sheer exhaustion at length the boys were compelled to desist from their noisy labor. A fresh relay immediately took their places. Old Tripe Fritz, who is a perfect type of an "imp incarnate," took up one of the gongs while his place at the organ was supplied by young Barney McCagh. J J Good, who by this time found out that he could not drive off the ladies with water took up the other gong and so the gonging progressed with more vigor than ever.

Nearly two hours had now elapsed since the ladies besieged the place and they appeared undaunted and full of determination. One of the ladies—a Mrs Stitzel, we believe—took hold of one of the gongs while the boy was pounding it and was in the act of taking it out of his hands. Walter Moffett immediately stepped forward and forcibly jerked the gong out of the lady's hand, at the same time he took from his pocket a pistol which he brandished menacingly. Up to this time not a policeman appeared in sight although the whistle was blown numberless times and the sidewalk was a perfect jam for more than two hours.

Matters by this time began to assume a tropical hue. The sun poured down its hot rays and soon the men at the gongs were steaming and sweating profusely. Frequent imbibitions which were indulged in at short intervals tended to render the gong-beaters more reckless and insolent. Good, who by this time was much intoxicated became very abusive, applying the most offensive and opprobrious epithets to those before him without discrimination. At the time he was standing up on a chair. He had repeated a very offensive remark, evidently applying it to the ladies before him, when Mr Wm Grooms who happened to be standing near struck him a violent blow between the eyes. He was prostrated and the gong dropped among the crowd. Like a spark among dry tinder the effect of the blow was contagious. Quick as a flash, the row became general. Several men sprang in and began to deal blows unsparingly to the right and left knocking more than one down. The crowd began to surge violently to and fro, some endeavoring to escape from the scene and a number making as great efforts to get a lick in. Loud cries and shouts mingled in wild disorder and the whole melee assumed a strange and fearful aspect. Altogether it was a scene that beggars description. Those who were willing to engage in a brawl in defence of Mr Moffett ... themselves confronted by a crowd of ... and resolute men who appeared both ... and willing to take up the gauntlet in behalf of the women immediately abandoned the sidewalk and retired to the bar room. Mr Moffet was among the foremost persons to seek safety and protection within his own domicil. Here followed an indescribable scene of riot, tumult and confusion. Knives and pistols were drawn by Moffett's party, chairs were thrown in confusion and broken, the glass in the doors was smashed. Above this fearful din rose loud threats mingled with oaths and imprecations. For a few moments bloodshed and death appeared imminent but fortunately no weapons were discharged. Shouts of Police, police were heard, and soon the valiant "M P s" appeared on the riotous scene and gallantly threw their massive forms in the breach. By great exertions the crowds were driven back and peace at length partially restored. No one was seriously hurt except an old man who received a slight cut in the hip from an unknown hand during the melee. Several participants will carry about for some days ornamented figure heads, souvenirs of the little unpleasantness.

Amidst all this scene of turbulence and threatened bloodshed the ladies held their ground and maintained a perfect composure. Some time prior to the row seats had been brought to the ladies and placed along the outer edge of the sidewalk where they were sitting. Had any shots been fired some of the ladies would have been either killed outright or badly wounded as they were in direct range of the missiles of death. But in the very face of danger and death the delegation sat perfectly composed and tranquil. Only two ladies changed positions during the row and they were crowded one side.

Shortly after the row commenced some person took one of the gongs and broke it under his foot. After the fuss was temporarily squelched singing and praying went on as before and pounding on tin cans and the remaining gong was resumed. In the melee the hand organ was broken and could render no more service. Subsequently some man threw the other gong into the river.

After having sung the ... for nearly four hours the ladies quietly withdrew and returned to the Church.

The affair has created ... excitement everywhere. More than ... persons were present during the afternoon.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS LOCAL PERSONAL AND GENERAL

[From the Pacific Advocate]

Rev C W Todd, Agent for the Umpqua Academy, preached on Sabbath morning last at the Hall street M E Church.

By the minutes of the New Jersey Conference we notice that Rev A Atwood has been transferred from that Conference to the Oregon Conference.

We are gratified to see our friend Mr John Kenworthy so far recovered from his late illness as to resume a portion of his labors at the Insane Asylum.

Mr J H Fairchild, Agent of Siletz Indian Reservation has been spending a few days in our city. He reports a good state of religious prosperity among the Indians.

Dr C M Sawtelle and family left this morning for Neah Bay Indian Reservation. We have no doubt their Christian labors and influence among the Indians will be greatly useful.

Rev J R Hammond and family passed through the city yesterday on their way to Hillsboro. Bro Hammond it will be remembered was compelled by ill health to take a superannuated relation at our last Conference.

Rev Geo Coffey of Kalama spent Sabbath last with Bro July at Oregon city, preaching in the morning and speaking in the union temperance meeting held at night. Bro Coffey has about concluded to pay a visit soon to the Drew Theological Seminary.

We learn that Rev T J ... Smith conducted a religious meeting at Whitaker's school house on Sunday morning last. The people of that vicinity organized a Sunday school at the same time. The following officers were elected: Superintendent M Burlingame, Asst Supt T Simmons, Secretary J Scott, Librarian S Scott, Treasurer J Powell.

It is thought that much additional interest would be given to the daily union temperance meetings if the ministerial and lay brethren visiting the city were invited more frequently to participate in the exercises. Many of them could give cheering tidings from other portions of the State and likely could carry back with them some of the fire kindled here.

Capt D B Finch wife and niece returned by the last steamer from California and are stopping at the Clarendon Hotel. They proceed hence to Olympia W T, where it is expected they will spend the summer. They will doubtless meet a hearty reception on the Sound where their many kind deeds in former years are still fragrant in the memories of the people.

[From the Sentinel]

We are pleased to announce that Divine service will be celebrated on next Sunday at St John's church Milwaukie. Rev Father Verhaag will officiate.

The Catholic Social Union will hold a regular meeting on next Tuesday evening at which the report of the Committee of Arrangements for the performances will be submitted.

Several Sisters of the Most Holy Names departed from this city during the week for their new mission at Grand Ronde Indian Agency where they intend opening a school for the education of Indian children. The Indians have long expressed a desire to have the Sisters undertake this important work, but circumstances have prevented them from undertaking it sooner.

A valued friend at the Dalles informs us that a most edifying sight was presented at St Peter's church in that city on Easter Sunday, the number of communicants being larger than on any previous year. The music on this festive occasion was fine. Miss Rosa Bettinger presided at the organ, the choir rendering Mercadante's Third Mass and Lambillotte's superb Magnificat and Te Deum.

A Paducah mule-driver had an amusing adventure on the train on his way home from Baltimore a few days since. Perching himself up on the arm of a seat he ... to the mirth of the passengers by relating his adventures in Baltimore.

"Well, boys I'm just from town, sold my mules and am gwine back to Paduky. Santering round last night I got lost, hired a hack, and was took to the big tavern with marble slab floor. Went out again and dropped into see the snake show. Showman took me to glass kiver case full of watches and jewelry, and snaked me out of a smart pile trying to win a watch by bet dropped in another place. Feller had three cards and bet me I couldn't pick up the one with a pictur on it. I picked up the wrong one every time and lost my pile, but I'll get even when I get home. You see Bill Thomas is a courting my sister. I'll play the pictur game on him, win his horse, bridle and saddle, and make him walk home.

"Paid four dollars at the tavern for lodgins, three dollars extra for light, tried to blow it out and then burnt my fingers tryin' to snuff it.

"I give that feller a dollar for the three cards; got em here. Come now boys, who'll bet a V on the picture?"

"I'll bet three dollars I can pick it up" said a city youth.

"Oh you're too smart; you'll want your money to buy your breakfast. I'll bet you fifty dollars agin your watch."

"Done" said city youth and "Paduky" had that watch in the twinkling of an eye. Just then the whistle blew, the cars stopped, and "Paduky" stepped from the train to the platform and was lost in the darkness. It then occurred to the "city boy" that he had once heard of "three card monte," but did not think a Paducah mule driver could play it.

A DUEL BETWEEN BOYS

An extraordinary case was brought before the Lindsey (Lancashire) magistrates on March 12th. Two boys, Gerald Maurice Brown and George Henry Seagrave, pupils at a boarding school in Lincoln, quarreled about a trivial matter, and Brown by way of settling the difficulty sent Seagrave a formal challenge to fight a duel. Seagrave duly accepted it, and about 2 o'clock, at which time the boys are allowed to go out for a walk, the duelists and their seconds started for a secluded spot. Here Brown's second, a boy named Dawson, loaded the pistol for Brown, and a youth named Walter Green did a like office for Seagrave. Both pistols were loaded with powder and ball. Dawson measured the distance, decided upon—thirteen paces—and placed a peg in the ground for the antagonists to stand against. Dawson then counted three and dropped a handkerchief. He counted slowly and the boys took direct aim at each other, firing the instant the handkerchief fell. Seagrave immediately cried out "I'm hit," and then laid down. It was then found that his pistol had burst. The seconds then searched for the wound and found it to be in the leg. They bound up the wound, and, with the aid of Brown assisted the boy home. The pistols used on the occasion were bought on their route at a toy shop, sixpence each being the price paid. One of the witnesses (all of whom were scholars) described the combatants as being on apparently friendly terms while going to the place of the fight, and said that no ill temper was displayed when on the ground. The magistrates remanded the prisoner, Brown, and the two seconds, until Saturday, pending the doctor's report of the state of Seagrave.—Pall Mall Gazette.

PROSPEROUS, BUT DISCONTENTED

Happening one day in his travels to be belated, Senator Collamer stopped at a substantial and comfortable farm house, and was entertained and hospitably invited to make himself comfortable for the night. He accepted the invitation, had a good supper and very luxurious lodgings. The next morning Mr Collamer made a survey of the farm of his host and was much surprised with the comfort and substantial thrift and prosperity of everything around. He could not but congratulate him on his apparently happy lot. His fields were well fenced, his barns were filled and his crops were promising. Besides too the farmer had an industrious and amiable wife, and several bright and healthy children. "A farmer's life," replied Mr Collamer, "is, certainly, the happiest of all human lots, and I must say, my friend that you are as happily fixed as any farmer I ever knew."

"Wall" remarked his host "that your notion, but 'tain't mine. I intend to sell out and move next week."

"Whither are you going?" inquired the inquisitive Yankee.

"Down into Texas."

"What into that wild and disturbed country, menaced by the whole Mexican army and by roving bands of Comanches and marauding guerrillas, leave this peaceful and happy home for such a savage country where you would have to sleep every night on your arms and carry your rifle strapped across your shoulder whilst plowing in the field?"

"Yes, sir-ee" was the eager reply. "Who would give a cuss to live in a country where he couldn't fight for his liberty."—N O Picayune.

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 17, 1874

THE PRUSSIAN HEADSMAN

The latest arrival of a distinguished foreigner in America is the headsman of His Majesty the King of Prussia. This public functionary has taken up his residence in New York. He is only fifty five years old but has during his career as executioner, cut off forty six heads.

A reporter from the Star interviewed him recently. The headsman said:

"Hard times and ridiculous obloquy caused me and my three daughters to leave the old country. By hard times I mean the new criminal code of Germany. Nothing could be more ill advised than that. I and my four colleagues thought so, and the German Parliament was foolish enough to pass it. What has been the consequence? Why, sir, in the past twelve months there have been more murders committed in Berlin alone than formerly when we were about, were perpetrated in the whole monarchy. But sir," he added sorrowfully, "all this is principally the fault of His Majesty the Emperor. Old William dislikes to sign death warrants. He studies over them too long and, worst of all, he never wants a woman to be beheaded. Two years ago I had an old girl who had poisoned her husband just when I wanted her. I went with my implements to Culen to dispatch her and just when I arrived there a telegram arrived there from Berlin commuting her sentence to penal servitude for life, and I had already cut off her hair." Our reporter thereupon ventured to question how many heads Mr. Scharffenberg had cut off altogether.

"Let me see," said the ex headsman, counting his victims off on his fingers, "forty-five—no, forty six."

"How many of them were women?" asked the reporter.

"About a dozen," said Mr Scharffenberg, "and I wish there had been less of them. They gave me more trouble than all the men I had to put to death. Why, the last person of that kind I had to attend to was an old lady with her son. They had poisoned the father to get his money. I thought the mother ought to have her head cut off first, but the Clerk of the Court, a meddlesome sort of a fellow, directed me otherwise, and so I had to cut (Schneiden) the young man first. His mother took it very badly. I could hardly get her in good shape on the block."

"What were your emoluments in Prussia?" asked the reporter.

"Three hundred thalers for each head cut off," replied the ex headsman, "and besides I had in my district all the skinning of fallen cattle. I had, however, money of my own, both my grandfather and father having been in the same business. O they had a good time of it, my grandfather alone had over two hundred executions."

"Two hundred executions!"

"Yes," he said proudly, "and half of them he broke on the wheel."

"Did you ever break anybody on the wheel?" asked the reporter.

"No," he replied, "the worst I did was cutting with the sword, and little did I like it, for it is an uncertain way of doing it. Give me the ax, and the head flies off like nothing."

"And you say the new German code is bad?" asked the reporter.

"Why, of course," said the old headsman. "Very bad! Very bad! Just see what they are doing in Berlin. One murder a day, and not an execution for six months. The Emperor is too soft-hearted. He will pardon them all. That's not the way of doing things. In 1847 I cut nine fellows in the March Werder District, and we never had a murder since. They do things better in Poland. They whip there the fellows so bad that they do not know where they are."

"But they do not kill them?" said the reporter.

"Do not kill them!" exclaimed the headsman, scornfully. "Few of them do survive, indeed! The Russian lash is as good as an ax. But hardly anybody hears of the culprit's death."

The reporter had had enough of the headsman's experiences and opinions, and bade him good night.

Death of a Daughter of Thomas H. Benton in Paris.—The burial services of Madame la Baronne Gauldree Boilleau, a daughter of Senator Benton took place at St Philippe du Roule this morning. Less than a week ago although ailing, she had seen her friends, and appeared much the same as usual. On Saturday evening last, an inflammation from which she had been suffering became alarming in its symptoms, and on Sunday morning at 7 she expired while the last sacrament of the holy communion was being administered to her. Friends hastened before dawn on Sunday to the officials to try and obtain her husband's release from Concierge that he might be present with her at the last but in vain, the weary tediousness of French red tape kept him from her till 2 P. M., when all was over. Loving friends and her dear little children however, surrounded her at the last hour.

The Baron Gauldree Boilleau it will be remembered, was sentenced to three years imprisonment, a year since, for reasons connected with governmental business, in which public opinion quite absolved him from blame. The day he was sentenced and went into prison, the death blow was given to his wife. Her proud and noble spirit alone kept her up to do the work she had planned to do. She has through her sole influence obtained for her husband a reprieve. In a few weeks M Boilleau will be again free. As a soldier who dies just as victory crowns the struggle, has she gone from a world that was too hard for her. M Boilleau was at the funeral with his three little boys—all broken with their bitter grief. I do not think there was a dry eye in the crowded church. The coffin was a mass of flowers and the Cathedral of St Philippe was most gorgeously draped in mourning—the priests, the choir boys, the music, the tout ensemble fit for the obsequies of an Empress.—Paris (March 10) Corr N. Y. Express.

What the Franco-Prussian War has Done for Germany—the Curse of Conquest.—The war short as it was in comparison with ours has been scarcely less demoralizing. It is a pregnant lesson, that no amount of inexorable necessity in accepting a struggle of the kind, of pure patriotism in making it victorious or of popular will to draw lasting good from its results, can avert the moral (or immoral) reaction which follows war. I am not yet sure that the five milliards (justified only by the law of retaliation) will not prove a curse to Germany. They have already produced an inflation similar to that caused by our National currency, a mania for speculation, the founding of all sorts of "wild cat" enterprises, and a rise of prices so rapid and arbitrary as to create new and unexpected embarrassments in all departments of office and industry. The school system which was the strength of Germany, is beginning to suffer severely. In most of the cities the housewives are compelled to form Consum-Vereine (unions of consumption) which buy their supplies at wholesale prices and while the laboring class is diminished by an enormous emigration causing an increase in the value of labor, which makes it in many branches, nearly as remunerative as in America, there never was such confusion and distress among the class as now.—Bayard Taylor's Letter to the N. Y. Tribune.

The Disease Called Butlerism.—In an amateur address in behalf of Judge Hoar recently laid upon the desks of the Massachusetts legislators one of the ablest and purest citizens of the Commonwealth says: "This manifold enemy is corruption, centralization and home rule by bodies of nation pretorian guards, paid from the public treasury often in the worst of ways, to do the worst of work for politicians and political rings. This is a complex definition, and it has of late become designated by a single convenient term Butlerism. Not that any man of that name caused the disease or diseases, but because a marked man of that name is its chief exponent and patron and its most active capable and constant propagator. With this disease, the enemy of our national life and virtue, our good people have determined to wage a war of extermination. It is to be no child's play, no holiday campaigning. It calls for inflexible will, fixedness of purpose, the highest civil courage and virtue of the active and aggressive sort."

Never Write a Letter.—The reputation of Judge Noah Davis who encompassed Tweed's conviction has been very decidedly damaged by the discovery of the letter to Jayne complaining that he had been cheated out of his share of the Phelps Dodge moiety. The public hereabouts who had come to have such an exalted opinion of Davis were astounded at this revelation after he had published a letter stating that he did not believe the firm guilty, and shocked that he should have had anything to do with such a fellow as Jayne. Thus it is that a reputation which a man may have spent a lifetime in making is smirched and blackened by a scratch of a pen. Moral: Never write any letters.—N. Y. Cor. Chicago Journal.

W[illegible] the Debt of the United States for the month of March [illegible] which while [illegible] for the month [illegible] is favorable enough [illegible] features that are not so promising. [illegible] shows that statements of a monthly decrease have been published frequently for two years past and one would very naturally [illegible] that the aggregate of decrease [illegible] but taking the figures from June 30th 18[illegible] to April 1 1874 the result is not so. From the statement for March before us we gather the following:

Aggregate debt bearing interest in coin (amount outstanding) $1[illegible] 000 on which there was accrued interest to the 1st inst of $[illegible] and interest due and unpaid $3 858 08 84. Debt bearing interest in lawful money $14[illegible] 000, on which there was accrued interest of $1[illegible] 60 and interest due and unpaid [illegible]. Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity $[illegible], on which there is $[illegible] interest due and unpaid. Debt bearing no interest $[illegible], on which $[illegible] interest due and unpaid. Total debt April 1 1874 [illegible], on which there is due and unpaid interest to the amount of $[illegible] 661 04, principal and interest $[illegible]. The cash in the Treasury is in coin $86 121 [illegible], currency $4[illegible] 401 31, special deposit held for redemption of certificates of deposit as provided by law, $51 [illegible] 000. Total cash in Treasury $142 364 680 77. Debt less cash in Treasury April 1 1874 $[illegible]. Decrease of debt during March $2 189 318 41. Increase of debt since June 30 1873 $4,8[illegible] 013 93. The foregoing synopsis does not include the interest on bonds issued to the Pacific railway companies on which there had accrued $969 3[illegible] 08 interest not paid. There are one or two items in the statement which deserve notice. One is the interest reported as due upon the part of the debt bearing no interest.

Since the war ended the expenses of the Government—outside interest on national debt, drawbacks, pensions and the cost of the army and navy—have been increased from $31 01[illegible] up to $51 688 501 74 in 1868 and again to $[illegible] 91 12[illegible] in 1873. The actual appropriations for the fiscal year 1873-4 were $306 060,2[illegible]. For the ensuing fiscal year the estimates presented to Congress were $13 156 486 82 increase upon that enormous sum.

Home Produce Market.

Our quotations for Grain and Feed under this head always include sacks unless otherwise stated. The prices at which sacks are reckoned in this market are as follows: For Wheat 8 cents ₩ bushel; Oats 5 cents ₩ bushel; Barley 10 cents ₩ 100 lbs; Feed $2 50@3 ₩ ton.

WHEAT—The market maintains the quietness noticed last week and barely enough transactions occur to establish quotations. Liverpool and San Francisco advices note but little change, the former being rather firmer and the latter being steady. Our home market is rather weak at $1 60, while small lots could hardly be placed at that figure. It is rather early to speculate safely on prices for the next crop but we see no reason to doubt that the English market will rule generally as high as the past year.

FLOUR—Owing to the dull state of the Wheat market and reduced prices of the raw material this staple is weaker and a decline of 50a[illegible]c ₩ bbl on some brands has taken place. Choice extra selling at $5 50a575 ₩ bbl; common and outside brands of extra $5 25; superfine $[illegible]; fine $4 50.

OATS—There is a declining tendency in the market and lots offering are not so freely taken at 15c ₩ bushel. Many predict a decided decline in the course of a few weeks at most. The dullness of the demand is apparent in the diminished receipts as there is doubtless yet a considerable surplus in the interior but holders do not care to offer in the present situation of the market.

FEED—The supply has not increased as many of our State mills are closed. Prices are sustained at $20a23 ₩ ton for chops, middlings etc $13a15 for bran, oilcake meal $25a27 50.

OATS—The dullness of the demand is apparent in

BARLEY—There is perhaps no more held in the State than will be necessary to supply the local trade until the new crop comes in. The demand is now quiet at $1 40a1 45 ₩ cwt.

HAY—The supply is quite adequate to the demand and trade is duller owing to the advance of spring. Wild is very dull sale at $8 ₩ ton while good timothy is in moderate request at $12@14.

POTATOES—We notice no particular scarcity in the market though all choice lots offering are freely taken at current rates. Shipments to California are declining. We quote best at 60c ₩ bushel with chances for an advance if sorted; common lots 45@50c.

ONIONS—There is a better supply than last spring and prices are weaker though choice lots are now in excess of the demand. We quote choice at $1 75 ₩ 100 lbs; common $1 50@1 60.

APPLES—But few choice lots are now coming to hand and such sell readily at [illegible]c ₩ box if sorted and neatly packed.

BACON—There is no unusual demand and prices remain without important change. Hams if extra fine country cured are worth 17@18c ₩ lb; sugar cured 20@22c. Sides are in fair supply at 11@12½c; shoulders 9a10c.

LARD—Oregon made is very scarce, and if clear and sweet will readily sell in tins for [illegible] ₩ lb, in kegs 12a13c. Eastern is selling at 1[illegible]½c.

DRIED FRUIT still comes forward liberally and our former quotations are well sustained both for apples in sacks and kegs and pitless plums. The former is quotable at 5½@6c, in kegs 6@6½c; plums with pits dull at 6c; pitless sell more readily at 13@14c.

BUTTER—We are still compelled to give a wide range to quotations owing to the varied quality of the many lots in the market. Large quantities are to be had at almost any price, but it is of such as could not be used. Choice fresh for table use is worth 30@37½c ₩ lb; common lot range all the way from 15 to 25c.

CHEESE—The market is scantily supplied with choice Oregon made, for which 20c ₩ lb is freely offered by jobbers. Best Cal about the same rate.

EGGS—There is a full supply at present and prices are yet weak at 16c ₩ dozen. Shipments are falling off and prices may yet go lower.

CHICKENS—Receipts are not large and the demand rather exceeds the supply. For choice lots of hens $4 50a5 ₩ dozen could be realized. Common or mixed lots are quotable at $4@4 50.

BEEF CATTLE—There is much complaint among buyers of poor lots offering and such are marked down to the lowest possible figure. For fat young steers the demand is brisk at 7c ₩ lb, while many of the lots offering sell for 5a6c because of their inferior condition.

MUTTON SHEEP—There are but few arrivals and quotations are nominal at $4a[illegible] ₩ head for fair lots.

DRESSED HOGS—The season is over and quotations nominal at 6a7c ₩ lb.

TALLOW—Some shipments made to San Francisco have been unprofitable and the market is duller. We quote at $6 ₩ 100 lbs.

HIDES—Large receipts and heavy shipments are the rule and we see the result of the hard winter in this branch of trade. Prices for undamaged lots are firm at 6@6½c for green, [illegible]c for green salted, 11a16c for dry and 11a12c for culls.

WOOL—Eastern and California advices indicate some activity in the market but show no important indications as to probable prices. Our home market is bare of transactions and quotations nominal at 19a21c ₩ lb for common to best.

No Agreement on Overland Freights.

NEW YORK, April 1[illegible].—To-day's World has an apparently semi-official article which says there is no arrangement between the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the railroads, probably because of the domineering disposition of the railroad and the demand to be made steamer agents, which would enable them to discourage the steamer business. The article says:

"The Pacific Mail Directors are given to understand that the Union and Central Pacific have an organization at Washington and make efforts with a view to retain the China Mail subsidy. It is charged that Pacific Mail stock has been sold short on account of members of the Congressional committees guaranteeing them [illegible] with the implied condition that they will introduce hostile resolutions and make unfavorable reports tending to prejudice Pacific Mail interests. The Mail Company professes little fear of the Central Pacific threats to put on an opposition [illegible] line unless the former accede to their demand, as it would take a large sum to build American ships, and foreign bottoms cannot give through bills of lading to points east of San Francisco.
